Warning: Choking & Magnet Hazard! This product contains small parts and magnets, not suitable for children under 9. Swallowed magnets can attract inside the body and cause serious harm. Keep items stored and out of reach of children. Seek immediate medical attention if swallowed or inhaled.

Hello! Thank you for choosing our product. We're a small family business based in the U.S., and we genuinely appreciate your support. We hope you will enjoy playing our magnetic stone game and have a lot of fun with it!

Game Setup:

Goal: Be the first to get rid of all your stones before the other players!

1. Split the 20 magnetic stones evenly among players (set aside any extras). You can also use the dice to decide who gets the extra stones.
2. Create a closed circle with the string on any flat surface.
3. Use the dice to determine who goes first (going first isn't always an advantage!).

How to Play:

On each turn, place one stone inside the circle on its wider side (not standing up) without touching the string or any other stones.

Penalty: If any stones attract each other, you must take them all.
Placement: Be careful! Depending on the magnetic poles, stones will either attract or repel, so place them strategically.
String Rule: If your stone touches the string- or repels another stone until it touches the string- you must pick up the stone that made contact.

Spice Up with Dice

Roll the dice each turn: 1-3 lets you place one stone, while 4-6 allows you to place two stones (but that can be tricky!). You can come up with more creative rules to make the game even more exciting!

Make It Easier or Harder:

Adjust String Size: Make the circle smaller for more difficulty, or larger for an easier game by adjusting the string's cord.

Change Surfaces: The type of surface (carpet, table, wood) affects difficulty. Smoother surfaces (like wood) make stones attract more easily.

Try New Shapes: Try other closed shapes, like a figure "8," for added variety.
